August's Meeting

Our meeting was at Sister's Place and there were 6 crew members and 6 guests in attendance. We discussed starting a new website and decided to go ahead with it.

Star Trek Night

Several crew members and 3 visitors attended a baseball game at the Louisville Bat's Star Trek night. Those who went dressed up in our Star Trek finest and mingled with people at the game for photographs. We even got to see a little of the game between the Bats and the Toledo Mudhens!

PC Meeting

The August computer class was attended by 5 crew. We discussed the new bylaws for the Ship and went over the "snip" function on the computer. There were snacks too of course!

The night sky tonight and on any clear night offers an ever-changing display of fascinating objects you can see, from stars and constellations to bright planets, often the moon, and sometimes special events like meteor showers. Observing the night sky can be done with no special equipment, although a sky map can be very useful, and a good beginner telescope or binoculars will enhance some experiences and bring some otherwise invisible objects into view. You can also use astronomy accessories to make your observing easier. Below, find out what's up in the night sky tonight (Planets Visible Now, Moon Phases, Observing Highlights This Month) plus other resources (Skywatching Terms, Night Sky Observing Tips and Further Reading).

The night sky is more than just the moon and stars, if you know when and where to look.
