SFC Exam

Lt. Commander Paula Geryak has passed the Command Basics exam. Outstanding job Paula, I hope to see other crew members take the SFC exams.

Mouse Flyer

Mouse has been looking around for a Starfleet Runabout or the Delta Flyer. But no luck, he did find this very nice little trailer.

No more tents for him, when he goes camping. The Mouse Flyer looks really nice!

Wonder Woman

The film opens as World War I pilot Steve Trevor (Chris Pine) and his plane crash on Themyscira, the island of the Amazons, where the Princess Diana (Gadot) has been trained by her aunt, the great warrior Antiope (Robin Wright). Soon, Diana leaves the island to try and stop the war, marking the beginning of her transformation into Wonder Woman.

SFC Newsletter Update

There have been a tremendous amount of issues from costs rising to personal problems. Regardless, as the Fleet Commander it is my responsibility.

At the first part of this year, my attention was with Membership Services, but thanks to the work of Admiral Rose Ciccarone, things are fantastic and I am turning my attention back to the Newsletter.

I have created a new position, Newsletter Editor

I have appointed Endeavour CO, Admiral Roy Jackson to this position. Obviously experienced at this. I have created an email address to send all submissions to. From this date forward, please send to editor@sfcq1.com

Admiral Jackson is going thru what we have and is in the process of formatting a newsletter. Please be aware that you may have submitted something in the past and due to various reasons, it may not make this newsletter. If something is missing, and it is still relevant, please resubmit to the email above and we will do our best to get it into the August issue.
